Ynglism: Slavic Aryan Vedas (Book 3)

https://archive.org/details/ynglism-slavic-aryan-vedas-book-3-berserker-books

"Ynglism (Russian: Инглии́зм; Ynglist runes:), institutionally the Ancient Russian Ynglist Church of the Orthodox Old Believers–Ynglings (Древнерусская Инглиистическая Церковь Православных Староверов–Инглингов, Drevnerusskaya Ingliisticheskaya Tserkov' Pravoslavnykh Staroverov–Inglingov), is a white nationalist branch of Slavic paganism[6] formally established in 1992 by Aleksandr Yuryevich Khinevich (b. 1961) in Omsk, Russia, and legally recognised by the Russian state in 1998, although the movement was already in existence in unorganised forms since the 1980s. The adherents of Ynglism call themselves "Orthodox", "Old Believers", "Ynglings" or "Ynglists"."

2) Ynglism (volume 3)

https://archive.org/details/ynglism-volume-3-berserker-books

The third volume of the primary source Ynglist anthology of writings.

"The term "Ynglism" refers to the Ynglings, one of the early aryan royal families, whom Ynglists believe to be descendants of the Aryan race who originated from the Omsk region of Western Siberia, Russia.

According to the Ynglists, the term has cosmological significance, referring to the order of the universe carried by the primordial fiery radiance — the Ynglia, personified as Yngly — emanated by the supreme God, Ra-M-Kha. They also call their religion "Orthodoxy" and "Old Belief"."

3) Ynglism (Volume 1)

https://archive.org/details/ynglism-volume-1-berserker-books

An anthology of Ynglist writings of which this is the first of three,

"The term "Ynglism" refers to the Ynglings, one of the early aryan royal families, whom Ynglists believe to be descendants of the Aryan race who originated from the Omsk region of Western Siberia, Russia.

According to the Ynglists, the term has cosmological significance, referring to the order of the universe carried by the primordial fiery radiance — the Ynglia, personified as Yngly — emanated by the supreme God, Ra-M-Kha. They also call their religion "Orthodoxy" and "Old Belief".

5) URRU: Thulean Polar Mythos

https://archive.org/details/urru-thulean-polar-mythos-jason-thompkins_202501

The magnum opus of Jason Alfred Thompkins, 3rd. This work presents the concepts of Miguel Serrano in an easily understandable form and provides practical advice to navigate the corrosive waters of this world, leading one back to the Origin following the path of the leftwards swastika.

6) The Source Of Life

Nicolai Levashov

https://archive.org/details/the-source-of-life-nicolai-levashov-berserker-books-6x-9

An interesting work by the Russian esotericist and polymath Nicolai Levashov discussing naturalism and the conditions of a healthful life.

7) The Seven Colors

Robert Brasillach

https://archive.org/details/the-seven-colors-robert-brasillach-berserker-books

"The book is very sympathetic to fascism as a regenerating ideology. However, given his future as a collaborator, readers may be surprised that Communism and socialism are not attacked outright and that the "Patrice" character mentions several times that Nazism may not be as enduring as fascism and that Frenchmen may have to fight the Germans in the future. Also, it is of note that Catherine, who calls herself a "petite bourgeoise" and who exemplifies French rationalism (and perhaps represents France herself) as noted in the dialogue section, chooses François, the French/native fascist and turns away from Patrice, who has immersed himself in Italian and German ideology."

8) The Semitic Roots Of Globalism

9) Race Of The Spirit

Julius Evola

https://archive.org/details/race-of-the-spirit-julius-evola-title-page

This is Evola's work expounding on the 'race of the first degree' that of the Spirit. In it he does not deny the reality of physical race but amplifies the biologistic racism with his own theory.

10) The Mirror Of My Soul

Nicolai Levashov

https://archive.org/details/the-mirror-of-my-soul-nicolai-levashov-berserker-books

The autobiography of the inventor; polymath and esotericist developed the Rodnovery (Slavic native faith) variant of Levashovism

11) The Last Night Of Svarog

Nicolai Levashov

https://archive.org/details/the-last-night-of-svarog-nicolai-levashov-berserker-books

A slavic-aryan presentation of cosmology; mythology and history excerpted from the author's book "Russian History Through Distorted Mirrors".

12) The Final Appeal To Mankind

Nicolai Levashov

https://archive.org/details/the-final-appeal-to-mankind-nicolai-levashov-berserker-books

"Nicolai or Nikolai Levashov (Russian: Никола́й Ви́кторович Левашо́в; February 8, 1961 – June 11, 2012) was a Russian occultist and psychic healer who wrote several books on life in the universe, Slavic history, the origin of mankind on Earth and other topics. From 1991 to 2005 he was known in the United States for several causes célèbres involving his patients.[1][2][3] One of his books is classified as antisemitic and extreme and banned in Russia. He was a leader of a public organisation "Renaissance. The Golden Age" which is considered a destructive cult by the Russian Orthodox Church. He was likely assassinated by the cabal as so many other Russian neo-pagans and esotericists such as Alexey Dobrovolsky; V. B. Avdeev; Valery Yemelyanov amongst others."

13) The Book Of Wisdom

https://archive.org/details/the-book-of-wisdom-berserker-books

A Ukrainian Rodnovery work by an anonymous author.

14) The Book Of Veles

https://archive.org/details/the-book-of-veles-berserker-books

An ancient book oft considered by mainstream aka-dumb-icks a 'forgery' (which presupposes an original by definition). This curious book has its place within the Rodnovery Slavic Native faith and is considered a foundational text amongst many variations of Rodnovery/Slavic Native Faith.

15) The Book Of Blood & Tree

https://archive.org/details/the-book-of-blood-tree-berserker-books

An interesting novel in the Rodnovery genre of the ancient Slavic faith.

16) The Anisotropic Universe

Nicolai Levashov

https://archive.org/details/the-anisotropic-universe-nicolai-levashov-berserker-books

"Laws of nature are formed at the macrocosmic and microcosmic levels. Man, as a living creature, exists in a so-called intermediate world – between macro- and micro-world. In this intermediate world he has to deal only with manifestations of natural laws, but not with them as such. As a result, it is almost impossible to create a complete picture of the Universe. This occurs because man tends to use his sense organs to cognize nature. He fails, because human sense organs cannot give him such a possibility owing to the fact that they (organs) were created by nature only as a mechanism of adaptation to the ecological niche, which man occupies, not as a tool of cognition..."

17) Strike Of The Russian Gods

Vladimir Istarkhov

https://archive.org/details/strike-of-the-russian-gods-vladimir-istarkhov-berserker-books

"I've been very pleased lately with Vladimir Istarkhov, a writer and public figure.

His book, "The Strike of the Russian Gods" (published in 1999 and since reprinted several times in Russia and Ukraine), became a bestseller and contributed significantly to the de-Christianization of the Russian nationalist movement.

21) Slavic Worldview: Confirmation Of The Book Of Light

Aleksandr Yuryevich Khinevich

"Ynglism (Russian: Инглии́зм; Ynglist runes:), institutionally the Ancient Russian Ynglist Church of the Orthodox Old Believers–Ynglings (Древнерусская Инглиистическая Церковь Православных Староверов–Инглингов, Drevnerusskaya Ingliisticheskaya Tserkov' Pravoslavnykh Staroverov–Inglingov), is a white nationalist branch of Slavic paganism formally established in 1992 by Aleksandr Yuryevich Khinevich (b. 1961) in Omsk, Russia, and legally recognised by the Russian state in 1998, although the movement was already in existence in unorganised forms since the 1980s. The adherents of Ynglism call themselves "Orthodox", "Old Believers", "Ynglings" or "Ynglists".

The Ynglist Church was described by some scholars as having a complex and well-defined doctrine and liturgy, an authoritative leading hierarchy, and as focusing on esoteric teachings. The Ynglists regard themselves as preserving the true, orthodox (i.e. in accordance with the universal order, right), religious tradition of the Russians, of all Slavs, and of all white European "Aryans". Other Rodnover groups in Russia are strongly critical of Ynglism".

Vladimir Avdeyev

https://archive.org/details/raciology-the-science-of-the-hereditary-traits-of-peoples-vladimir-avdeyev-berserker-books-fin

"Written by Vladimir Avdeyev, RACIOLOGY is about the science of the hereditary traits of peoples and races. From metopism to dental traits, from the Rolando and Sylvius brain fissures to the Jewish brain signature, from the ancient Aryans to Nordic peoples, from the Out-of-Africa Theory of Evolution to Polycentric Evolution, from dermatoglyphics (thumbprints) to eye shape, Vladimir Avdeyev discusses it all, with references to works that span of a period of time, which stretches from the present to deep antiquity. His work discusses the civilization-building traits of the European; he identifies the founders of the Classical civilizations, which stretched Spain to India, from Britain to Egypt, as the Aryans; he examines some cultural traits of the races, such as ritual scarring. His work rebuts the fashionable trends of modern Western anthropology. 375 pages with over 200 photos, maps, and illustrations."

Kalajić's political and cultural views, which were largely modeled after Julius Evola. He criticised Christianity and considered himself a pagan until the mid-90s when he converted to Serbian Orthodox Christianity.

He was friends with many prominent figures in the fields of art, literature, film and philosophy, including Evola, Ezra Pound, Alexander Dugin, Giorgio de Chirico and Gualtiero Jacopetti.

31) Ethnogenesis And The Biosphere

Lev Gumilev

https://archive.org/details/ethnogenesis-and-the-biosphere

"It is impossible 'to be united in an ethnos', since membership of one ethnos or another is directly perceived by the subject himself, and the surrounding ones take it as a fact not subject to doubt. Feeling or sensation consequently underlies the ethnic diagnostic. A person belongs to his ethnos from infancy. It is sometimes possible to incorporate strangers, but if that happens on a broad scale it disintegrates the ethnos. An ethnos can be broken up, but it is preserved in a diasporic state, forming numerous relict forms. The historical conditions are altered more than once during the fife of an ethnos; conversely, divergence of ethnoi is often observed during the predominance of one mode of production. Starting from Marx's idea of the historical process as an interaction of the history of nature and the history of men, we can propose a first, most general division into social stimuli arising in the technosphere, and natural stimuli constantly operating from the geographical environment. Everyone is not only a member of some society or other that is at a certain level of development, but is also a physical body subject to gravitation, and the final link in some biocoenosis, an organism capable of adaptation and existing at an age determined by the effect of hormones. The same can be said about the long-living collectives that socially form class states or tribal unions of various character (social organisms), and in nature form ethnoi (tribes, nationalities, nations). Their non-coincidence is obvious."

Alexey Alexandrovich Dobrovolsky (Russian: Алексей Александрович Добровольский; 13 October 1938 – 19 May 2013), also known as Dobroslav (Russian: Доброслав), was a Soviet-Russian ideologue of Slavic neopaganism, a founder of Russian Rodnoverie, national anarchist, and neo-Nazi.

Dobrovolsky termed his ideology "Russian National Socialism". He was the spiritual leader of the radical wing of Russian neopaganism and is characterized as an ideologue of Slavic national socialism. In the 1950s–1960s, he was a member of the dissident movement of the USSR and the National Alliance of Russian Solidarists.

36) Book Of Wisdom Chronicle Commentary On The Sacred Scriptures (volume 1)

A. I. Gusev

A book of the 'Slavic-Aryan Vedas'

They consist of several books. The first book "Slavic-Aryan Vedas" is divided into several parts: "The Vedas of Perun. The First Circle", "The Saga of the Ynglings", "Ynglism", "Daariysky Krugolet Chislobog". There is also an additional appendix called "Organizations and Communities of the Old Russian Church of the Ynglings-Old Believers". This book tells about the commandments that Perun left to the peoples of the Great [Slavic-Aryan] Race, as well as a number of events. This book and its appendices tell about the Yngling ancestors, provide information about the teachings of this church, the calendar, the pantheon, hymns, generally the commandments of every God.
